EXPLANATION.

This work indexes genealogical material by giving the titles of works containing references to the genealogies of American families, arranging the references to genealogical material alphabetically under family names or surnames. In most cases the references are to matter which consists of at least three or four generations.

The surname is given in black type followed by the titles of works containing information on each surname, with the number of the page on which the information is to be found. Look for the various spellings of a name. Most of the references are to town histories, and give the author's name followed by word Hist., for History of, and the name of town and State. This is the only work of the kind in the country.

These titles are given briefly, each occupying one line. For a full description of each genealogy the reader is referred to "The American Genealogist," a companion to this volume, published by us.

It has been the aim of the compiler to make it as thorough and complete as possible; hundreds of volumes of historical, biographical and miscellaneous publications have been minutely examined. But few persons have an adequate knowledge of the amount of genealogical material to be found in such volumes, from the fact that anything like a full collection of works in those departments can only be found in a few large cities, and without consulting them it is often an impossibility to prepare a family history, or to learn anything very definite of a particular family. With the assistance furnished by this volume no difficulty will be experienced in collecting needed information by any one interested in such investigations. It also affords instruction to the general reader, who may not know whether the history of his native county, town or village has been written and published. The work has been prepared with a view to facilitate the study of family history, and makes it unnecessary to visit the leading historical libraries, to learn by protracted search whether anything has been published on one's family.
